Custom Vinyl Banners Finish Options

Before placing your order, it's a good idea to view and decide on the following detailed options. Free Hems and Grommets.

HEMS

Hems on a custom vinyl banner refer to the finished edges of the banner that have been folded over and sewn to create a reinforced edge. This adds stability and strength to the banner, and also provides a clean, finished look. The most common types of hems are double-fold hems and pole pockets. Double-fold hems are created by folding the edge of the banner over twice and sewing it in place to create a clean, finished edge. Pole pockets, on the other hand, are created by sewing a pocket along the edge of the banner that is used to insert a pole or other support structure.

Grommets

Grommets are small metal rings that are typically inserted into the corners or along the edges of a custom vinyl banner, which provide a secure way to hang the banner. Grommets are typically made of brass, aluminum, or other durable materials and are placed at regular intervals along the banner. They are typically used in conjunction with rope, cable ties, or bungee cords to secure the banner to a wall, fence, or other structure. The grommet itself is a small hole, usually reinforced with a metal ring, which allows for the banner to be hung up with a rope or cable tie and prevents the tearing of the material. Grommets are a common feature on banners that will be hung in high-traffic areas or exposed to harsh weather conditions, as they are durable and resistant to tearing.

POLE POCKETS

Pole pockets are a feature on custom vinyl banners that are designed to make it easy to hang the banner using a pole. They are essentially a folded-over and sewn edge of the banner, which creates a pocket where a pole can be inserted. This allows the banner to be hung from a pole or a rope, and it provides a secure way to display the banner. Pole pockets are typically placed at the top and bottom of a banner and can be created in different sizes to fit different diameter poles. Pole pockets are a convenient way to hang a banner, as it eliminates the need for additional hardware or rigging to display the banner.

WIND SLITS

Wind slits, also known as wind flaps, are small cuts or openings in a vinyl banner that are designed to reduce wind resistance and prevent the banner from tearing or getting damaged in windy conditions. When the wind blows against a banner, it can create a large amount of force on the banner, causing it to stretch, tear, or even break. Wind slits allow the wind to pass through the banner, reducing the amount of force exerted on the banner and making it more resistant to damage. They are usually placed at the corners or along the edges of a banner, and are a common feature on banners that will be hung in high-wind areas or exposed to harsh weather conditions.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

ARTWORK SPECIFICATIONS

Which are the Accepted File formats?

When it comes to printing, there are a few accepted file formats that will ensure the best print quality. JPEG, JPG, PDF, EPS, CDR, AI, GIF, PSD, TIF, and TIFF files will all produce clear images that won't be pixelated or blurry. However, for large-format printing, Adobe Illustrator EPS and AI files are the best options. If you're using a design tool like Photoshop or Illustrator, the file formats that can be uploaded are PNG, JPEG, JPG, GIF, EPS, AI, TIFF, and PSD. These files will retain their quality when enlarged and printed on a larger scale. So whatever your printing needs may be, be sure to use one of these accepted file formats for the best results.

What resolution should I use for the artwork?

If you're not sure what resolution to use for your artwork, there are a few things to keep in mind. First, the minimum resolution should be 150dpi for actual size artwork and 300dpi if the artwork is about half size. Second, provide all image files in inches. For example, if you want your banner to be 2 Feet High x 4 Feet Wide, then set the artwork size at 24"H X 48"W. Finally, remember that the higher the resolution, the better quality your artwork will be. However, it's also important to make sure that your file is not too large or it may take longer to upload or download. If you have any questions about what resolution to use for your artwork, be sure to ask a professional or consult with someone who has experience with this. Thanks for reading!

What Color mode is accepted?

Color is one of the most important aspects of any banner, sign, or related product. After all, the whole point of these products is to catch people's attention and get your message across. That's why we offer full-color printing in both CMYK and RGB. CMYK is the standard color mode for print, and RGB is the standard for digital display. Either way, we will make sure that your colors are vibrant and true to your original vision. Plus, we always strive to deliver the best results to meet your specified color requirements. So no matter what color mode you choose, you can rest assured that your finished product will look great.

What kind of fonts do you support?

Fonts are an important part of any design, and Bannerstore.com is proud to offer one of the widest selections of today's most popular fonts. With our banner design tool, you can easily select the fonts you want from our large library and customize the text for your banner or sign. If you're uploading a file, we recommend that you outline all the fonts in your artwork before exporting it for printing. This will help you avoid any delays in the final printing process. Whether you're looking for a specific font or just want to browse our selection, Bannerstore.com is the perfect place to find the right font for your next project.

Do I have to add bleed to my artwork?

When designing a banner, it's important to take into account the fact that the finished product will be displayed on a larger surface than the design itself. This is especially true if the banner will be hung from a pole or placed on a wall; in these cases, the edges of the design may be obscured by the hardware used to display the banner. To account for this, many designers choose to add "bleed" to their artwork. Bleed is simply extra material that extends beyond the edge of the design; when the banner is trimmed to its final size, the bleed will be cut off, ensuring that the design extends to the very edge of the banner. However, bleeding is not always necessary. If your design covers the full surface of the banner and does not extend beyond the edges, you do not need to add bleed. In fact, adding bleed can actually make it more difficult to align your design correctly on the banner surface. So, unless your design requires it, there's no need to add bleed to your artwork.

what size do you offer for banners?

There are a variety of sizes that you can choose from when it comes to banners. The size of the banner will depend on your needs. If you need a large banner, then you can choose a size that is up to 150 feet in length and width. If you only need a small banner, then you can choose a size that is only 2 feet by 2 feet. There are also vertical banners that are 150 feet in height and 10 feet in width. You can also choose a horizontal vinyl banner that is 10 feet in width and 150 feet in length. When it comes to choosing the size of the banner, it all depends on what you need the banner for.

What is the difference between 13oz, 15oz, and 18oz Vinyl Banners Material?

The difference between 13 oz, 15 oz, and 18 oz vinyl banners is the weight and thickness of the material. 13 oz vinyl is the lightest and thinnest of the three options, making it less durable and less resistant to tearing and wind. 15 oz vinyl is a little heavier and thicker, providing more durability and resistance to tearing and wind. 18 oz vinyl is the heaviest and thickest of the three options, making it the most durable and resistant to tearing and wind. The 18 oz vinyl is the best option for banners that will be exposed to harsh weather conditions or hung in high-traffic areas.

Vinyl Banners Durability and Lifespan

Vinyl banners are a great way to market your business. They are very versatile and can be used in a variety of settings. One thing to consider when using a vinyl banner is its durability and lifespan. The life of a banner really depends on how it is being used, stored, and taken care of. The more it is being used, the faster it will wear out. Although, typically banners last for anywhere between 3-6 years. The most they can serve you is 5-10 years or the least 1-2 years. Naturally, if the banner is being used outdoors 24/7, due to the weather conditions and the sunlight, it will wear out more quickly than if used sporadically, or if used indoors. It is not difficult to maintain a banner and store it, but the maintenance really determines its lifespan. If you are planning to mount your banner outdoors, you are better off getting an extra durable 18-ounce vinyl, and even get wind slits, if your banner will be placed against a fence, or hung freely in the wind. When storing your banner, make sure to fold it along the seams rather than just rolling it up. This will help prevent creases from forming in the vinyl. With proper use and care, your vinyl banner can last for many years to come!

Banners are a great way to grab attention and advertise, whether it be for a business, event, or special occasion. They come in all shapes and sizes and can be customized to fit your specific needs. If you are planning to order a banner, there are a few things you should keep in mind in order to ensure that your banner lasts for as long as possible. First, if you are planning on hanging your banner, we recommend that you order reinforced corners along with grommets. This will add extra support to the corners of your banner and help prevent ripping. When storing your banner for later use, be sure to roll it up and keep it away from dust and extreme heat. Folding the banner can cause creases, so rolling it is the best way to prevent this. If the banner is too large to roll, don't worry – you can still get rid of creases by hanging or laying the banner flat and applying light heat. By following these simple tips, you can ensure that your banner will stand the test of time.
